MYSTERY STILL SHADOWS DEATH OF MAIMED MAN

Testimony of Witnesses at Inquest
Reveals John Farrell From All Blame.

An inquest conducted by Coroner John P. Maberry at the Moline funeral home yesterday afternoon failed to solve the mystery which surrounds the death of Louis Kepple, the one-armed man who was found unconscious in front of a drug parlor at 1308 Fourth avenue last Thursday and lay unconscious at the Lutheran hospital for 108 hours before death claimed him.

The jury, after hearing testimony of numerous witnesses, most of whom were brought to the stand by Police Chief Ben DeJager, returned a verdict of "accidental death due to meningitis caused by a fall." Following the announcement of the jury's verdict a crowd of curious spectators and expectant newspaper men who had come looking for some grave sensation in connection with the death, fled quietly out of the room. John Farrell, proprietor of the soft drink parlor, where it was reported, alleged Kepple, causing him to fall, had been exonerated.

"They came to me voluntarily and told me that Johnnie Farrell slugged Kepple on the jaw. Now they get on the witness stand and either say Farrell didn't touch him or else that he was merely warding off a blow," Chief DeJager said before departing.

Investigated Case.
While Kepple lay unconscious at the Lutheran hospital, Chief DeJager had been investigating. On the surface Kepple appeared to have fallen on the sidewalk accidentally, but numerous telephone calls from persons who claimed to have seen the affair stated that such was not true. Yesterday, however, they told a different story.

Only one declared it appeared as though Farrell hit Kepple and his statement was modified.
"It looked to me," said Frank Majors, 1149 Twenty-fifth street, "as though Mr. Farrell reached over and hit Kepple on the shoulder. I couldn't tell whether his fist was closed. It looked to me as though he struck Kippie to ward off a blow. I don't think the blow would have tipped me over."

Farrell himself told the following story: "Kepple was a porter for me. He came down early in the morning and about 9 he asked for $1.50. I gave it to him and he went out, but came back some time before noon pretty much intoxicated."

Didn't Hit Kepple.
"I asked him to go home. He didn't. Then I waited on some customers. He made more noise. I came from behind the counter and told him he would have to go home. We went outside. Then he drew his hand out as though to hit me. I kind of put my hand up in front of me and he went down. He hit his back first and then his head. I don't think I touched him when I put up my hand. I didn't hit him."

Several other witnesses told practically the same story, all agreeing that Kepple started whatever fracas occurred by attempting to strike Farrell. Although many admitted yesterday having seen the affair, when questioned by reporters and police officers on the day of the tragedy no one in the saloon appeared to know anything about it.

MOLINE OBITUARY

William B. Lane.
Death claimed one of Moline's well known residents when William B. Lane, 1494 Thirtieth street, succumbed at 3 yesterday afternoon, after an illness of four years.

Word of his passing comes as sad news to a large circle of friends in this vicinity, who extend deepest sympathy to the bereaved survivors. Mr. Lane had been employed as janitor at the Moline Y. M. C. A. and at the Manual Arts building and was well liked by all who knew him. His remains will be taken to Macomb, his former home, Thursday morning, where funeral services will be held at 2 Thursday afternoon in the First Methodist church. Interment will be in the Oakwood cemetery at Macomb, Ill.

Mr. Lane was born June 11, 1850, at Macomb. His early youth was spent in farming and in 1870 he was connected with a restaurant at Macomb, where he also leaves a host of friends.

Mr. Lane married Miss Evangeline Graves May 28, 1879, at Macomb. They came to Moline 14 years ago.
Surviving him are the widow, three sons, Arthur G. Lane and Howard J. Lane of Chicago, Ralph Lane of Alledo, and one daughter, Miss Ermine E. Lane, at home. He also leaves a sister, Mrs. Nancy E. Delaney, of Moline. Mr. Lane was a member of Camp No. 201, M. W. A., at Macomb.

FEW HOMES LACK A BANNER RED CROSS, LEADER DECLARES

Although no formal report of the progress of the Red Cross roll call in Moline has yet been made, subscriptions to the cause will be 30 per cent greater in the Logan school district, Ben Kough, district captain, said today. Few homes in the district, he said, are without membership banners.

Solicitation continues through today and tomorrow after which a "clean sweep" campaign of factories and offices will be made. The house-to-house canvass is, however, the most important one, John D. Cady, chairman of the roll call, declares. He is endeavoring to get as many as possible to sign up in the home and is laying greatest stress upon this phase of the drive.

Moline chapter officials were at a loss to explain the apparent indifference manifested in the upper end of the county. Willing workers in warlike and recipients now of benefits from the Red Cross, it was expected that the country districts would be quick to respond to the roll call but such has not proved the case. Campaign in the rural districts will probably not get under way until next week, it was announced at headquarters today.

Didn't Hit Kepple.
"I asked him to go home. He didn't. Then I waited on some customers. He made more noise. I came from behind the counter and told him he would have to go home. We went outside. Then he drew his hand out as though to hit me. I kind of put my hand up in front of me and he went down. He hit his back first and then his head. I don't think I touched him when I put up my hand. I didn't hit him."

Several other witnesses told practically the same story, all agreeing that Kepple started whatever fracas occurred by attempting to strike Farrell. Although many admitted yesterday having seen the affair, when questioned by reporters and police officers on the day of the tragedy no one in the saloon appeared to know anything about it.

LURE OF CRIME TO BE DISCUSSED BY CRIMINAL EXPERT

Why a person becomes a criminal will be one of the many interesting facts which Frank P. Sadler, former judge of the municipal court of Chicago and an expert on the psychology of the criminal, will tell to those who attend the next Sunday afternoon lecture at the Moline Y. M. C. A.

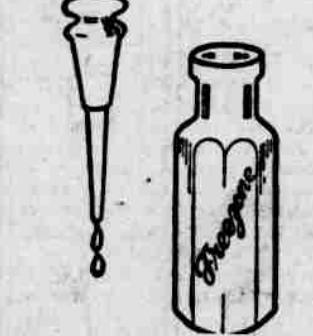

Judge Sadler presided over the Harrison and Desplaines street courts in Chicago. These courts are said to be the most active criminal courts in the world. In one year Judge Sadler handled 71,911 cases. He has come in contact with all types of men and women and is fitted to talk upon the subject chosen.

The musical part of the Sunday's program will be furnished by the First Baptist church orchestra under the direction of Spencer Anderson.

TOBACCO STOLEN.
A few weeks' supply of tobacco and candy was stolen last night from the John Meersman store at 1859 Twenty-third avenue. Entrance to the building was gained by hurrying a large stone through one of the store windows.
Investigation this morning showed that one box of plug tobacco, three boxes of cigars, one carton of cigarettes and one carton of snuff, besides a quantity of gum and candy had been taken. Neighbors say they heard a crash about 4 a. m., believed to be the noise made when the window glass was broken.

EXPERT COMES TO INSPECT JOB AT WATERTOWN

Action of Board On Sewer and Watermain Project Pending
Engineer's Verdict.

Survey of the work done by the Moline Heating and Construction company in Watertown is being made today by L. R. Howson, representing the Alvord & Burdick Hydraulic and Sanitary Engineers of Chicago. G. D. Long, East Moline city attorney, and Alderman Louis Miller are accompanying Mr. Howson on his tour of inspection.

The Chicago engineer arrived in East Moline last night at the request of the board of local improvements. The work at Watertown, which consists of the laying of a sewer and watermain, was completed about a month or so ago. Property owners immediately made complaint that the sewer was not deep enough to drain their cellars and appealed to the council to have the work done over.

At the same time former City Engineer Earl Barnes severed his connection with the city and Mayor J. F. Johnson, chairman of the board of local improvements, thought it advisable to employ the services of an expert.
Mr. Howson will make an unofficial report on the work done in Watertown before leaving for Chicago this evening. He will later submit a report to the city.

DRASTIC MEASURE RESULTS IN QUICK PAYMENT OF RENT

A new record was set in Illinois last night when City Clerk Harry K. Chapman reported to the council that all but one man had paid his water rent. The man who failed to pay was shut off from service.

Delay and frequently a refusal to pay water rent in Illinois led the council to take drastic measures to insure payment some time ago. A discount of 10 per cent was made on all bills paid within 17 days of notice and a threat was made to disconnect service after a certain length of time. The measures brought results.

The committee in charge of remodeling the standpipe reported that the work had been completed and the bill for this was allowed by the council. The council had a pleasant surprise when it was discovered that a portion of the paint purchased to do the work would have to be sent back as the tank did not require another coat.

ENGINEERS MEET.

George Seaman, assistant engineer of Deere & Co., addressed a large number of stationary engineers last evening at a meeting of the Moline branch. The subject of his talk was tank heaters. He gave a description of the heater and the theory of its operation, a discussion which greatly interested his hearers.

DIPHTHERIA EPIDEMIC.

With two more cases of diphtheria reported in East Moline the disease has reached proportions of a small epidemic and health officers are warning everyone to take special precautions to check its spread.
The latest victims are James and Gust Kandis, the former residing at 1858 Twenty-third avenue, the latter at 556 Eighteenth avenue.
Garfield school, closed yesterday for fumigation, was reopened today and the attendance was reported normal. The building was ordered closed yesterday following the discovery that one of the pupils had diphtheria.

In the Lodges

Moline lodge, No. 235, L. O. M., has its session last evening in the hall and the degree staff conferred ritualistic work on a class of eight candidates as a preliminary to the initiation of a large class and a banquet scheduled for Dec. 7.
Mooseheart legion No. 137, of this district, met in quarterly conference Sunday evening at Turner hall, 260 members being on hand. An enjoyable banquet was served, after which a number of musical selections were rendered by the Mooseheart legion band and a lengthy program was given. Mooseheart, the home and vocational, educational institution of the order, now has an enrollment of 1,000 students for the ensuing year.

SPECULATORS' SALES SET BACK WHEAT MARKET

Chicago, Nov. 17.—Wheat underwent a setback in price today largely as a result of aggressive selling on the part of speculators. The selling appeared to be based on opinions that bullish factors had been well discounted by recent upturns. Declines, however, met with rather persistent commission house buying. Initial quotations, which varied from 2 1/4c lower to 1/4c advance, with December 1.87 1/2 to 1.88 and March 1.76 1/2 to 1.77, were followed by a material sag all around, and then something of a rally.

Chicago, Nov. 17.—Subsequently, purchasing supposed to be for the east absorbed the surplus in the pit, and with strength in sterling exchange helped to lift prices, but the effect failed to last, the market descending lower than before. The close was nervous, 3c to 5c net lower, with December at $1.84 1/2 to $1.85 1/2, and March $1.73 1/2 to $1.74 1/2. Corn gave way with wheat. After opening 1/2c to 1 1/4c lower, including December at 73 1/2c to 74c, the market fell a little further and then reacted somewhat.

Chicago, Nov. 17.—General selling set in later, and prices dropped to the lowest point yet this season, closing heavy at 2 1/2c to 3 1/2c net decline, with December 72 1/2c to 73c.

Oats were governed by the action of other grain, starting unchanged to 1/4c down and continuing weak. Provisions lacked support, except November lard which was in demand from shorts.
